USSR INTERNATIONAL AFFATRS Aug. 10, 1960

As a sergeant in the U.S. Army specially trained in a subversive airborne unit, he said, I know well that the Pentagon, with the approval of the U.S. State Department, is preparing; is preparing, not for defense, as American propaganda keeps repeating, but for an attack against the Soviet Union and other socialist countries.

He further noted that many soldiers and officers of the U.S. Army can really provoke another war. He stressed that the aggressive policy pursued by the United States engenders hatred towards U.S. servicemen who man U.S. bases abroad.

In conclusion he said: I am very happy that I managed to get away from military service in the U.S. Army:, to break with the West forever, and to receive asylum in the Soviet Union, where I hope to be of use in peaceful life and creative labor.

Espionage Equipment Exhibit

Moscow, Soviet Home Service, Aug. 10, 1960, 0900 GMT--L

(Text) What can be more harmless than a doll or a celluloid bear? But a spy who crosses our frontiers brings Soviet money inside children's toys; a walking stick concealing a weapon; a balloon containing a box for leaflets; and a revolver equipped with a silencer. These and many other objects are now exhibited at the central house of the Soviet Army in Moscow. All these articles which had been taken from the violater of frontiers, writes RED STAR, show how cunning is the enemy and of what he is capable.

Evidence Against Slavnov

Moscow, PRAVDA, Aug. 4, 1960--A

(Text) As already reported by PRAVDA the American intelligence agent V.M. Slavnov was unmasked and arrested on the territory of our country. One more snake's sting has been rendered harmless!

On Aug. 3 PRAVDA'S correspondent was shown at Committee for State Security the equipment seized from the spy. He was richly provided for by the masters from Allen Dulles' establishment! There were portable radio transmitters with the mark "made in the United States," a bandit's knife, a pistol with silencer, and a "poisonous" fountain pen. This equipment, however, did not help the spy, nor did the 15,000 rubles which were in the pocket of the American agent.
